Education for Change at New City

Education for Change (E4C) is a programme designed for educators by educators to ensure schools provide high-quality, practical opportunities to explore diversity and racial issues in a meaningful way.

At New City Primary, we are proud to be part of this initiative as it is something we already value as part of our vision and ethos through our curriculum, the 5Cs and how we engage with our local, wider and global community.

We know conversation is a powerful tool. E4C aims to engage and open minds by challenging, inspiring and motivating children and young people to both prepare for, and call out, racism when they experience or encounter it. We will be sharing more information with you as we further develop this powerful aspect of our curriculum.

Y6 Transition

You can apply for a secondary school place via online at eadmissions.org.uk. You must submit your application by Sunday, 31 October 2021. Roald Dahl Day

This week we celebrated Roald Dahl Story Day, a day dedicated to the incredible Roald Dahl. It commemorates him and all his incredible achievements and is celebrated every year on his birthday, the 13th of September with people all over the world coming together to celebrate the magic he brought to, and continues to bring to children and adults everywhere. Though Roald Dahl wrote many books during his lifetime there are a few notable stories he wrote that have captivated readers worldwide. The first book Roald Dahl had published was The Gremlins, which loosely inspired the little creatures in the 1984 Steven Spielberg film of the same name. He's also written many more magical books, like Matilda, The BFG and James and the Giant Peach. But, arguably his most famous book is Charlie and the Chocolate Factory, which has been made into two Hollywood films. In total, he sold more than 250 million copies of his books, worldwide.

Homework Guidance for Parents

Our teachers and children have had a great start and are working exceptionally hard and learning new things every day. We now really want you, the parent and carers to join us in celebrating all of the amazing learning that your children are doing. Every week our children are set homework linked to what they are learning in class. This is a wonderful opportunity for them to consolidate their learning from school and an opportunity to share this with you at home. Your children will receive a homework sheet with homework set for every day, however in addition you can also access this on the schools website in the 'Information for parents' section under 'Remote Learning from Home' <https://www.newcity.boleyntrust.org/information-for-parents/remote-learning-from-home>

Good luck and do not forget to read with your child every day!
Thank you for your continued support.

Mr Freeland's Book Review

The Rapping Princess

Shiloh is a princess and has everything a princess could possibly want - a huge castle to live in, a swimming pool, and even a magic mirror. But there's one thing she doesn't have: a singing voice. You see, all the other princesses in the kingdom can sing: there's Adanna, who can really belt out a tune; and Shaya, whose voice is full of soul. Then there's Sade, Thandie, Shanique and Kenya, who can all sing beautifully too. What Shiloh can do is rap - in fact, she has better flow than all the princes of the land put together. But she's a princess - she's supposed to sing, not rap. From the creative duo who brought us the award-winning My Hair, this is a hip-hopping fairy tale about standing out and accepting your uniqueness. The book is bursting with energy and joy, making it perfect to read (or rap) aloud and enjoy together.
